

Networking session: presentation of international research groups as host institutions

Monday 11th May 2015

Part 1: from 16:00 to 17:00

- Estrella Luna, Plant Production and Protection (P3) Institute, The University of Sheffield, Sheffield, UK

Translational Plant and Soil Biology/Agriculture

- Isabel Barragan, Karolinska Institutet, Stockholm, Sweden

Pharmacogenetics

- Monica Campillos, Institute of Bioinformatics and Systems Biology, Helmholtz Zentrum Munich, Germany

Bioinformatics/Systems Biology

- Olaf Rüdiger, Max Planck Institute for Chemical Energy Conversion, Mülheim an der Ruhr, Germany

Electrochemistry and spectro-electrochemistry of proteins and bio-inspired catalyst for energy applications

- Hugo Gutiérrez de Terán, Uppsala University, Uppsala, Sweden,

Computational (bio)chemistry, protein structure and function and structure-based molecular design

Part 2: from 17:00 to 18:00

- Jacobo Elíes Gómez, University of Leeds, Leeds, West Yorkshire, United Kingdom

Biomedical science – Physiology & Pharmacology Ion channels on Cardiovascular diseases

- Alejandra Tomas, Imperial College London

Diabetes

- Sandra Jurado, University of Maryland School of Medicine, Baltimore USA

Neuroscience, Cell Biology, Synaptic Plasticity, Learning and Memory, Optogenetics and novel tools to regulate neuronal activity

- Ander Ramos, Eberhard Karls Universität Tübingen, Tübingen, Germany

Neuroengineering, Stroke rehabilitation, Brain-Machine-Interfaces, Neural control of robotics, Neuroplasticity, Neurorehabilitation

- Jose de Gea, Robotics Innovation Center DFKI, Bremen, Germany

Robotics and artificial intelligence

Organised by:

In partnership with: